Foreword

The theme of the 1952 Stator is a circus. Usually yearbook themes are stilted and serious; we wanted something different. Our problem was to choose a theme that was appropriate for a high school annual, but at the same time, one that would be interesting and remembered with pleasure in future years. That is how we came upon the idea of a circus. As a ticket of admission is needed to enter the main gate of a real circus, so also is a ticket necessary for admission into our circus of school life. We have chosen, appropriately we think, a ticket inscribed with the Latin motto, "Mens Sana in Corpore Sano," for we believe that these are the only requirements that a person need have in order to meet the challenge of higher education. So here we are at the circus grounds and the main tent.

Dedication

THE 1952 Stator is dedicated with gratitude to a teacher who has served Corning Free Academy with integrity for twenty-six years.

Grace Ione Tobey attended local schools and graduated from Syracuse University in 1914, taking graduate work at Cornell, Columbia University, Emerson College of Oratory, and the Gloucester School of the Theatre. She has taught in the following high schools: Troy, Pennsylvania; Sea Cliff, New Jersey; Endicott, Corning Northside, and Corning Free Academy. Miss Tobey started teaching English I in Corning Free Academy in September of 1926, and has continued in this capacity throughout her years with us.

For many years she directed the annual senior play. In 1938 she wrote an original play entitled "With Hamlet Left Out." This was a delightful comedy. In addition to this play, she has written many interesting poems.

During her career Miss Tobey not only aided the community as a whole by her eighteen years service as President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, but she also encouraged many Corning Free Academy students in their pursuit and appreciation of wild bird life.

Class Officers

Class History

In four years the 1952 Seniors have come a long way from the shy, rather overawed youngsters they were as Freshmen, to the examples of aplomb they have become.

When the class of 1952 were Freshmen, they elected as their class officers: President, Martha Jimerson; Vice-President, Barbara Elwell; Secretary, Audrey Dipppo; and Treasurer, Lois Lamb. Their only real function as a class was attending the Freshman-Sophomore social hour, given by the Sophomores in their honor.

Treasurer Samuel Costello, Vice President Thomas Gehl, President Martha Jimerson, Secretary Mary Geisler

The next year, the class chose "Bill" Williams as President; Vice-President, "Richie" Negri; Secretary, Anne Salo; and Treasurer, "Pete" Yorio. The Sophomores entertained the Freshman at a very successful party. The refreshments and entertainment made it an enjoyable affair.

Carmen Puccio served as President of the Junior Class, assisted by Sari Barker as Vice-President; Eleanor Mertson, Secretary; and Remo D'Ortenzio, Treasurer.

The outstanding project of the class was the Junior Prom, which has become, in the estimation of most students, THE SOCIAL AFFAIR of the year. The decorations were patterned after the Mardi-Gras. The orchestra, placed in the center of the floor under a tent-like affair of red and white crepe paper surrounded by a little white fence, played to a capacity crowd. Balloons and streamers produced a festive effect. The punch was excellent and everyone spent a very enjoyable evening.

The first senior meeting resulted in the election of the class officers for the year 1951-1952. Martha Jimerson was elected President. The other officers were: Vice-President, Thomas Gehl; Secretary, Mary Geisler; Treasurer, Samuel Costello.

There are many activities in which a senior class participates. The first of these was the Senior Get-Together. In the gym, they played games, danced and ate. The next social affair was the Thanksgiving Prom. This has never been a money-making dance and this year was no exception.

However, after the prom came the highly successful magazine campaign. Each year the seniors sell magazines for the purpose of raising money to finance their various projects. The largest share of the money is used for the senior trip. In order to go to Crystal Beach, the seniors had to raise $3000. They topped this quota by $965. The general Chairmen for this campaign were Theresa Miller and Townsend Laonde.

The homeroom chairmen were:

Miss Wolcott's — Helen Graf and Mary Geisler

Miss Clute's — Leroy Share and Linwood Russell

Miss Farr's — Mary Schwartz and Patricia Stoquert

Mrs. Kresge's — John Barrett and Remo D'Ortenzio

Mrs. Kresge's homeroom sold the most magazines, thereby receiving as their reward some money for a homeroom party. Mary Caruso, by selling more magazines than any other senior earned a radio as first prize. A second prize of $7.50 was awarded to Katherine Baker, a third prize of $5.00 went to Margaret Collins, a fourth prize of $3.00 went to Anne Salo, and a fifth prize of $2.00 went to James Smith.

The Christmas Prom, "Frosty Frolic" was a succesful well attended and profitable dance. The dances which the class sponsored proved their ability to cooperate.

More activities of the industrious class were Class Day, a "howling" success and the very important Senior Play, "Cheaper By The Dozen". It played to a capacity house both evenings thereby netting the seniors the largest receipts ever to be realized from a senior play.

The class trip to Crystal Beach was enjoyed by everyone. Swimming, roller coaster rides, food, etc., always add up to a good time.

Commencement was the traditional solemn, beautiful ceremony, climaxing the students' four years achievements. There were sad and glad faces among the seniors and in the audience, for many Seniors were saying their last "good-byes" to Corning Free Academy.

After graduation came the Alumni Banquet and Dance, at which the alumni welcomed the new members into their ranks.

As the Seniors looked back on their years in the Academy they realized how quickly the time had passed. They knew that they had learned lessons in cooperation as well as in studies that would endure a life time.

Christmas

GLORIA IN EXCELSIS

There is one time of the year when people in their hearts are free and at peace with the world. This is the time when men promote peace and good will and forget their own troubles in trying to make others happy. This is the time when everyone rejoices because the king of kings came to save the world — this is Christmas-time. Corning Free Academy in commemoration of this joyous event presents each year a Christmas Pageant which tells the lovely age-old story of the First Christmas.

To the sound of soft clear chimes floating through the halls, the students begin silently entering the auditorium. As one enters the candle-lit auditorium, he becomes aware of the soft mellow glow cast by the flickering white candles lining both sides of the room. The beautiful pine boughs adorning the stage and platforms are set off by brilliant red bows. Above all, he notices the hushed stillness which is broken only by the golden tones of the bell-like chimes.

After the softly glowing room has been filled, the melodious tones of the chimes gently die away, giving rise to the beautiful uplifted voices of the Choir. Slowly and majestically the choristers, resplendent in crimson robes, begin to move down the aisle singing, "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful". Bearing lighted candles, they move on to their elevated seats among the green boughs near the stage.

All is quiet — the curtains part, and the Pageant of the Christmas Story begins, depicting the Annunciation, and the Choir sings "O Come, O Come Emmanuel." As the story of the birth of the Savior unfolds in its many beautiful scenes, portrayed by the silent immovable figures on the stage, the Choir sings the carols which explain the scenes.

Soon, the Pageant is over, and with measured steps, the Choir slowly moves back up the aisle of the auditorium, singing gloriously as the heavenly host of angels did on the first Christmas eve. The melodious joy of the chimes again fills the air with the message — "Peace to men of good will!"

Scholarship, leadership, character, and service are the qualifications for the National Honor Society. These are carefully explained in speeches by the members at the Fall and Spring Assemblies.

The Honor Society holds two assemblies a year. The tapping at the spring assembly includes Juniors who form the nucleus of the Honor Society for the following year. The members who are inducted, realize that membership in this organization is valuable not only in school, but in later life. Colleges and employers recognize membership in the National Honor Society as a guide to a person's mental abilities and characters.

Earl Whitney was president this year, and introduced the assemblies. James Frey served as Vice-President; Betty Rhoads, Secretary; and Eleanor Mertson, Treasurer.

Senior High Student Council

 Row 2: Miss Wolcott, Anne Salo, Camille Buffomante, Elizabeth Schneider, James Smith, LeRoy Share, William Bartlett, John Nikirk, Alan Werner, Margareta Welzel, Heather Holmes, Mrs. Youngstrom, Mr. Miller.

This year, every other Friday, the Senior High Student Council was called to order in Miss Wolcott's homeroom at 3:00 p.m. by President Richard Negri.

The Council is the student government of Corning Free Academy. Each class and each club has a representative whom it elects in the fall. These representatives help pass laws which will benefit the school and its clubs, and veto laws which they think are unfair. Of course, its power is limited, but the powers it is given are exercised fully.

One of the most important problems brought up for action in the Council this year was that of dishonesty in the Academy and how to cope with it. The members wanted to do something. There was much discussion and the final proposal was to have an assembly, the program of which was to be based on a discussion of dishonesty. The assembly was presented in the form of an ordinary Council meeting in which each member took part. The skit did not try to remedy the problem by telling the students what or what not to do; instead, it suggested what might be done to improve the situation, leaving the final decision up to the students.

A dinner was held in the spring for the members of the Northside and Painted Post Student Councils. Each year one of these schools is host at a dinner for the other two. The members discuss what they have been doing during the year, and offer suggestions for any problems perplexing the schools.

President Negri was assisted by vice-president and parliamentarian, Waldo Castellana, secretary, Mary Caruso, and treasurer, Evelyn Force.

Row 2: Nane Hyland, Natalie Bacon, Robert Putt, Patricia Smith, Deborah Carson, Laura Houghton.

The Junior High Student Council is a petite replica patterned from the senior high governing body bearing almost the same name. Its members are the elected officers of the Junior High, and representatives from each of the respective homerooms. Its greatest value is that it gives the younger grades in our school a chance to practice student government and to be more thoroughly prepared to participate in the activities of Senior High school.

The position of presiding officer this year belonged to Jack Joris, with George Barnes as his assistant. Vincent Stirpe fulfilled the duties of secretary while William English acted as treasurer.

During the "March of Dimes Drive" the Council distributed banks to all the homerooms and collected them at the end of each day. One of their greatest contributions to the school was their donation of money used to repair the Public Address System. In the spring, the Council sponsored a tour of the Academy for the benefit of the next-year seventh graders.

At the end of the year, the Junior High Student Council held a party for the Junior High School.

NOON HOUR COUNCIL

Mr. Robert Duncan, William Keegan, Betty Rhoads, Patricia Comfort, James Scranton.

The Noon Hour Council, though it is not one of the leading organizations in the school, is by far one of the most important and essential. This energetic council provides various types of entertainment for those students who eat their lunch at school every noon. This recreation may be in the form of movies, games, dances, and many other delightful and worthwhile activities.

The council provides not only entertainment, but study halls for students to do extra school work. Thus the Noon Hour Council is advancing curricular as well as extra-curricular activities for the welfare of the students and certainly is making the noon hour pleasant.

Library Council

Every Wednesday morning at 8:30, the Library Staff is called to order by the President, Margaret Collins.

The purposes of the meetings are to enable the twenty-five staff members to learn library procedures and to discuss ways to extend the library services to the entire school.

An example of extending services to the school is the teacher-contact committee. This committee's job is to contact teachers and find out what they are doing in their classes. The Staff members then find material which will be helpful to the teachers and take it to them. The members also sign teachers up for film strips or movies related to the subjects they are teaching.

As most clubs have, so has the Library Staff, an active social calendar. Its first social engagement of the year was a tea given for the faculty members of Corning Free Academy. Soon after this, new members were chosen to replace the seniors who had graduated in the spring. At Christmastime, the Library Staff held a luncheon. They trimmed a Christmas tree and decorated the library in keeping with the Yuletide season.

February and March were busy months for the girls. They had their annual shelf-cleaning party, and Tri-School parties. The Tri-School parties are given by Corning Free Academy, Northside, and Painted Post. Each school has a party for the Staffs of the other schools.

Throughout the year, the Library Staff had luncheons. These enabled the girls and Miss Ruth Cole, Corning Free Academy's Librarian and Library Staff advisor, to get to know each other better.

The year ended with the annual Library Staff banquet held at the Mark Twain Hotel. At the banquet next year's officers were announced and installed.

Parlez-vous Francais? If so, join the French Club, (Le Cercle Francais), an organization for French students.

This year the club decided to continue the support of Rene Dussene. The French Club adopted Rene four years ago and have found a great deal of pleasure in reading his letters of thanks for the support given to him and to his family.

To earn the money for this project, the members have sold stationery and sponsored a dance, the first social hour of the year. It was a huge success.

This organization meets once a month at noon in the Art Room. The purpose of this club is to enlarge the students' scope of knowledge regarding artists and their contributions to civilization. At each noon meeting, one person is responsible for a talk on some man or woman outstanding in some field of art. Van Gogh, Rockwell, DaVinci, and many others have been reported on and their works discussed.

This year the senior art department executed a paper mache nativity and the junior art department, a metal carved plaque of Mary and the Baby with an open Bible in front. Despite the location of the Nativity display on Centerway instead of Market Street, it was one of the most outstanding and beautiful entries based on the theme, "The Light of the World."

The requirement for membership in this club is one year of general art. Presiding over this year's group was Joan Demyan. Audrey Dippo was vice-president; Winifred Hogan, secretary-treasurer; and LeRoy Share Student Council representative.

DEBATING CLUB

This year the Debating Club reorganized and started afresh. After a breathing space of one year, members readily joined and took a vivid interest in developing it into one of the school's outstanding clubs.

Elections were held and the results were thus: Robert Zendzion, president, Emery Nordberg, vice-president, Frances Kramer, secretary, Willis Royce, treasurer, and William Leibig, Student Council representative. Miss Amey is the faculty advisor giving the much needed information on the rules for debating.

One of their first tasks was the drawing up of a constitution. The purpose of the club, in case you are not familiar with it, is best stated in its constitution —

"To debate problems of current interest and to develop ability for better expression."

The debates finally began after the constitution had been passed. After a little uncertainty in the first few debates, members learned how to put their points across and some debates really were lively.

The club had a good year and hopes to do even better next year. It is open to any juniors and seniors interested in debating problems of current importance. It is a good way to learn a good many current events and certainly learning them by this method is far more enjoyable.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Programs for the Commercial Club are planned to broaden the students' experience and knowledge of the business world.

With this objective in mind, the Club has had a very active year. It held monthly luncheon meetings at which Corning business women and members of the Club spoke on various phases of a Secretarial career. Films and filmstrips were also shown to emphasize some special part of the course.

Reading Clock-wise: Virginia Van Dusen, Eleanor Mertson, Betty Rhoads, Lucy Orelli, Kathleen O'Brian, Patricia Stoquert, Rose McIntyre, Patricia Wisor, Mary Caruso, Mary Geisler, Lois Lamb, Genevieve O'Brien, Miss Clara Frenzel.

HILL ECHO

Four times a year, the Hill Echo makes its appearance. The paper is an ordinary looking sheet — typical of school papers all over the country. And yet, into its news, features, photography and art, have been put drive, ambition, talent, toil and unfailing determination to give our students a paper they can be proud of.

Let us go on a conducted tour of the Hill Echo. This tour will include the staffs' work and will give you a complete picture of this organization. It will show you what a tremendous undertaking a newspaper is, and it will also show you that everyone, from the editor to the typists, has a certain task to fulfill.

The first stop on our tour allows us to visit a meeting of the editors in which the earliest ideas and suggestions are brought up, discussed and finally decided upon. Next we find the staff editors holding separate meetings with their staffs. Here assignments are given out and deadlines are set. During the next few weeks we will observe members of the various staffs scurrying about snapping pictures, gathering all types of sport and scholastic news, soliciting advertising, drawing cartoons and finding out the latest gossip. After the deadline, the typists begin their seemingly endless toil — preparing the work for the publishers.

In approximately one week we again find the editors gathered to make up the dummy out of the typed material for its second and final printing. Within days the completed paper is back from the publishers and ready to be distributed to its many eager and ardent readers.

This year, not only has the Hill Echo staff published four copies, but during the football season it put out cheering pamphlets which contained almost all of the cheers, our Alma Mater and the victory song.

With William Bartlett as its editor-in-chief, the Hill Echo's various editors have been ably guided and advised. The other editors who have worked diligently and helped to make the paper the success it was were: Margaret Collins, feature editor; Frances Kramer, circulation and subscription editor; Kathleen Marteny, advertising editor; and Mary Geisler, typing manager. Miss Mary Amey, Miss Marie Gantert, Miss Clara Frenzel, and Miss Marian Holmes were the helpful faculty advisors.

The Stator Staff is composed of four departments, the literary, business, art, and circulation.

The Literary Staff under the direction of Miss Claire Janus, and co-editors Anne Salo and Eleanor Mertson, plans the dummy for the book, composes the write-ups for the seniors. The staff also has the task of choosing an appropriate theme for the book and tying this in with every phase of the book.

The Business Staff obtains all the advertisements for the book, sets up the advertising dummy, and does much of the financial work connected with the publishing of the Stator. Heather Holmes was the Business Manager. The Circulation Staff takes subscriptions for the Stator early in the fall and sees that all the students get their Stators in the spring. Kathleen O'Brien served as manager for this staff. Mr. Russell Carr was advisor for these staffs and also takes care of the photography.

The Art Staff under the supervision of Miss Elsie Clute, designs the cover and end sheets, and also plans the arrangement of pictures and drawings in the entire book.

These Staffs work in close cooperation in order to produce a good yearbook which will be enjoyed by the students and faculty. Its aim is to incorporate as much of the students early life and activities in school as space will permit.

The Theatre Guild has just completed another active and successful year. Soon after school started, the Theatre Guild presented a one-act play, "Rehearsal", under the direction of Miss Wiltse, a practise teacher from Ithaca College.

Those in the club interested in learning the intricacies of the art of make-up, may join the make-up committee. Miss Dorothy Hewitt, also from Ithaca College, gave new students valuable aid in this field. The make-up committee is responsible for the make-up for the Christmas Pageant, Senior play, Rotary minstrel show, and its own productions.

Parliamentary Procedure classes, under the direction of Miss Frances Webb, are held for students desiring to learn and practice the correct methods of conducting meetings.

A point system is used by the Theatre Guild for giving awards to deserving members. Members start working toward these awards in their freshman year. Points are given for participation in club activities, club theatrical productions, and the Senior play.

In January, the Theatre Guild sponsored a dance appropriately named "Flunkers' Folly."

The Stage Crew

The size of this organization leads many of us to think that it is not very important. However, this idea is far from true. It is one of the most scrupulous organizations in the school. The four members, which are chosen from each class, are responsible for the smoothness with which our assemblies are conducted. They operate the curtains, work the lights, secure and set up properties, and put the auditorium back in order at the completion of each assembly program. These duties are very ably executed by this small but important group.

SENIOR

Any Tuesday or Thursday afternoon at three o'clock, one can walk into the auditorium to listen and watch the senior orchestra at work. Under the able directorship of Mr. Edward J. Walsh, the orchestra has become one of the most outstanding, successful, and essential school organizations. With out it, we would not have the extra color and attraction now present at Honor Society Assemblies, senior play, and commencement. The entre acte music it provides for the senior play is practically a necessity.

The annual Spring Concert which the senior orchestra shares with the Glee Club was a great success and was enjoyed by everyone. The familiar melodies of

ORCHESTRA

Gilbert and Sullivan were especially enjoyed when the orchestra played "Sullivan's Operatic Gems" arranged by Julius S. Seredy. The audience also received very well "Serenade" from "The Student Prince" by Sigmund Romberg and "Themes from Tschaikowsky's Fifth" arranged by Frederic F. Swift. Everyone appreciated Harold Stasch's solo in Leroy Anderson's "A Trumpeter's Lullaby." On the lighter side of the program were Louis Atlee's "Manhattan Serenade", Harburg and Adlen's "Over the Rainbow" from the "Wizard of Oz" and Ernesto Lecuona's "Siboney." All in all it was a very entertaining and delightful concert.

Thus, this year, under the concertmistress, Mary Schwartz, the senior orchestra was brought to a close.

SENIOR

No one can really begin to conceive all the work that is represented each time the band gives a performance, except perhaps the members of the band themselves. Every Monday morning and every Wednesday morning and afternoon you can find this group rehearsing either in the auditorium or out on the campus. Besides this, all the members are required to practice on their own outside of school to produce the kind of music which is expected of them.

But, because these standards are met, Corning Free Academy has a band to be proud of. Its color and spirit add much to our football games, especially the big game, C.F.A. vs. N.H.S. It has played for civic gatherings and presented a very fine school assembly in March.

Its big concert came in May. There the band presented such varied music as: Lecuona's Spanish-American "Andalucia", Paul Lavalle's stirring arrangement of the "United States Overture", Grundman's folk-styled "Blue Tail Fly", and Yoder's arrangement of "The Wizard of Oz Fantasy" by Harburg and Arlen. "Joshua", a novelty for band, also arranged by Paul Yoder, was one of the program's hits and, of course, everyone liked the stirring rhythm of Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" and Huffine's "Them Bases."

The credit for the success of this organization belongs rightfully to its conductor, Mr. Walsh, for his untiring efforts to improve the band and for training its members to do their best.

"Practice makes perfect," the old adage goes and, if this is true, there is certainly a good example of hard practice demonstrated every Friday in the auditorium where the Junior Orchestra meets to prepare for its annual spring concert in May. Its members range from the fifth grade to the Junior class.

This year, under their able conductor, Mr. Clarence Aldam, a varied program was planned. It included two marches, the first movement of the "Miniature Symphony" by E. De Lamater, and Sietz's "Second Pupil's Concerto" featuring Drusilla Frey in a violin solo. Mr. Aldam had arranged and written the score of this piece for the entire accompaniment himself, and this was the first time in fifteen years that it was presented.

The String Ensemble is another musical organization of Corning Free Academy. Members include students from the grade schools as well as from the Academy. Practice is held each Wednesday at three O'clock.

In May, the String Ensemble presented its annual spring concert. The selections presented were greatly enjoyed by the audience. Numbers included in the program were: "Gloria," a German Choral, "Waltz in A Major" by Brahms, a medley of three folk songs made up of "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground" and "Beautiful Dreamer" by Foster, and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" by Bland, "Song of the Venetians" — Rimsky-Korsakov, and a medley of waltz favorites. A vocal solo, "Moonlight and Roses" by Lamare, was featured with Norma Stevens as soloist.

Mr. Clarence Aldam, director of the String Ensemble, arranged all the selections presented.

This year they practiced Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday noons under the capable direction of Mr. Donald Mitchell. In May the Choristers presented their concert along with the Senior High Glee Club. They sang six songs including an original rendition of "I Wish I Wuz". Also, the Choristers sang on several radio programs.

A group selected from the Choristers, together with a group of Northside vocalists, entertained at a dinner for the school superintendents.

Harmonettes

This is an entirely new musical organization comprised of eight girls under the direction of Mr. Donald Mitchell.

It was formed in January of this year, and meets once a week, Tuesday noon.

As yet, we have not heard much about this organization; however, we were impressed by their voices at the variety show which was held in assembly.

The organization consists of: Sopranos — Virginia Lentricchia, Betty Rhoads, Mary Santilli; Second Sopranos — Nancy Clark, Frances Kramer; Altos — Marjorie Bennett, Norma Mattei, Barbara Woeppel.

Boys Junior High Glee Club

This organization is a new one which is comprised of boys from the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades. It is under the direction of Mr. Donald Mitchell and meets every Tuesday at three o'clock.

The boys have sung many songs together for fun and enjoyment. They presented fine interpretations of "Shortnin' Bread" and "On the Old Chisholm Trail" at their concert.

These boys are doing very well, and it is expected that they will do even better in future years.

The C.F.A. football team got off to a poor start by losing two out of the first three games played. However, they wound up the season in third place in league standing with five wins and one tie.

September 21: In the league opener Geneva scored a 31-0 victory over the Hillsters.

September 28: The Bulldogs displayed improvement in their first triumph of the season. They routed the Haverlings to the tune of a 26-0 score.

October 5: The following weekend the Red Raiders downed a hard fighting Corning Free Academy 37-13. In the final quarter, John Daniels made an electrifying 62 yard run for a score.

October 11: The Wellsville team met a revamped C.F.A. squad and the Bulldogs won this one 13-0.

October 19: The C.F.A. eleven scored their third triumph of the season over Elmira Heights at the stadium by a score of 20-0. In the first play of the game, halfback Richard Negri made a dashing 61 yard run before being tackled from behind on the opponent's seven yard line.

October 26: C.F.A. increased its wins to four as it defeated Batavia 30-13. Negri again emerged the star of the day. Early in the final period he intercepted a pass on the Batavia 20 yard line then made two first downs after which he went over for the touchdown.

November 2: The game with Cortland was highlighted by adverse weather conditions. Statistics showed Cortland to be a fine aggregation. However, the Academy scored its fifth win of the season edging Cortland on a rain soaked field, 6-0. Mike Giardina's spectacular punting kept the opponent deep in its own territory which helped C.F.A. recover a fumble and make its lone score.

November 10: The game with our traditional rival, Northside, ended in a 0-0 tie, the fourth in the history of the 43 meetings of the schools. Early in the game, Negri raced 12 yards for a score only to have the count nullified by a penalty. However, the Blue and White's superiority was much greater than the score indicates. They outplayed the Tigers throughout the entire game.

The Jayvee team was, this year, a light, wholly inexperienced squad, freshman for the most part. The team concluded their football season without a victory.

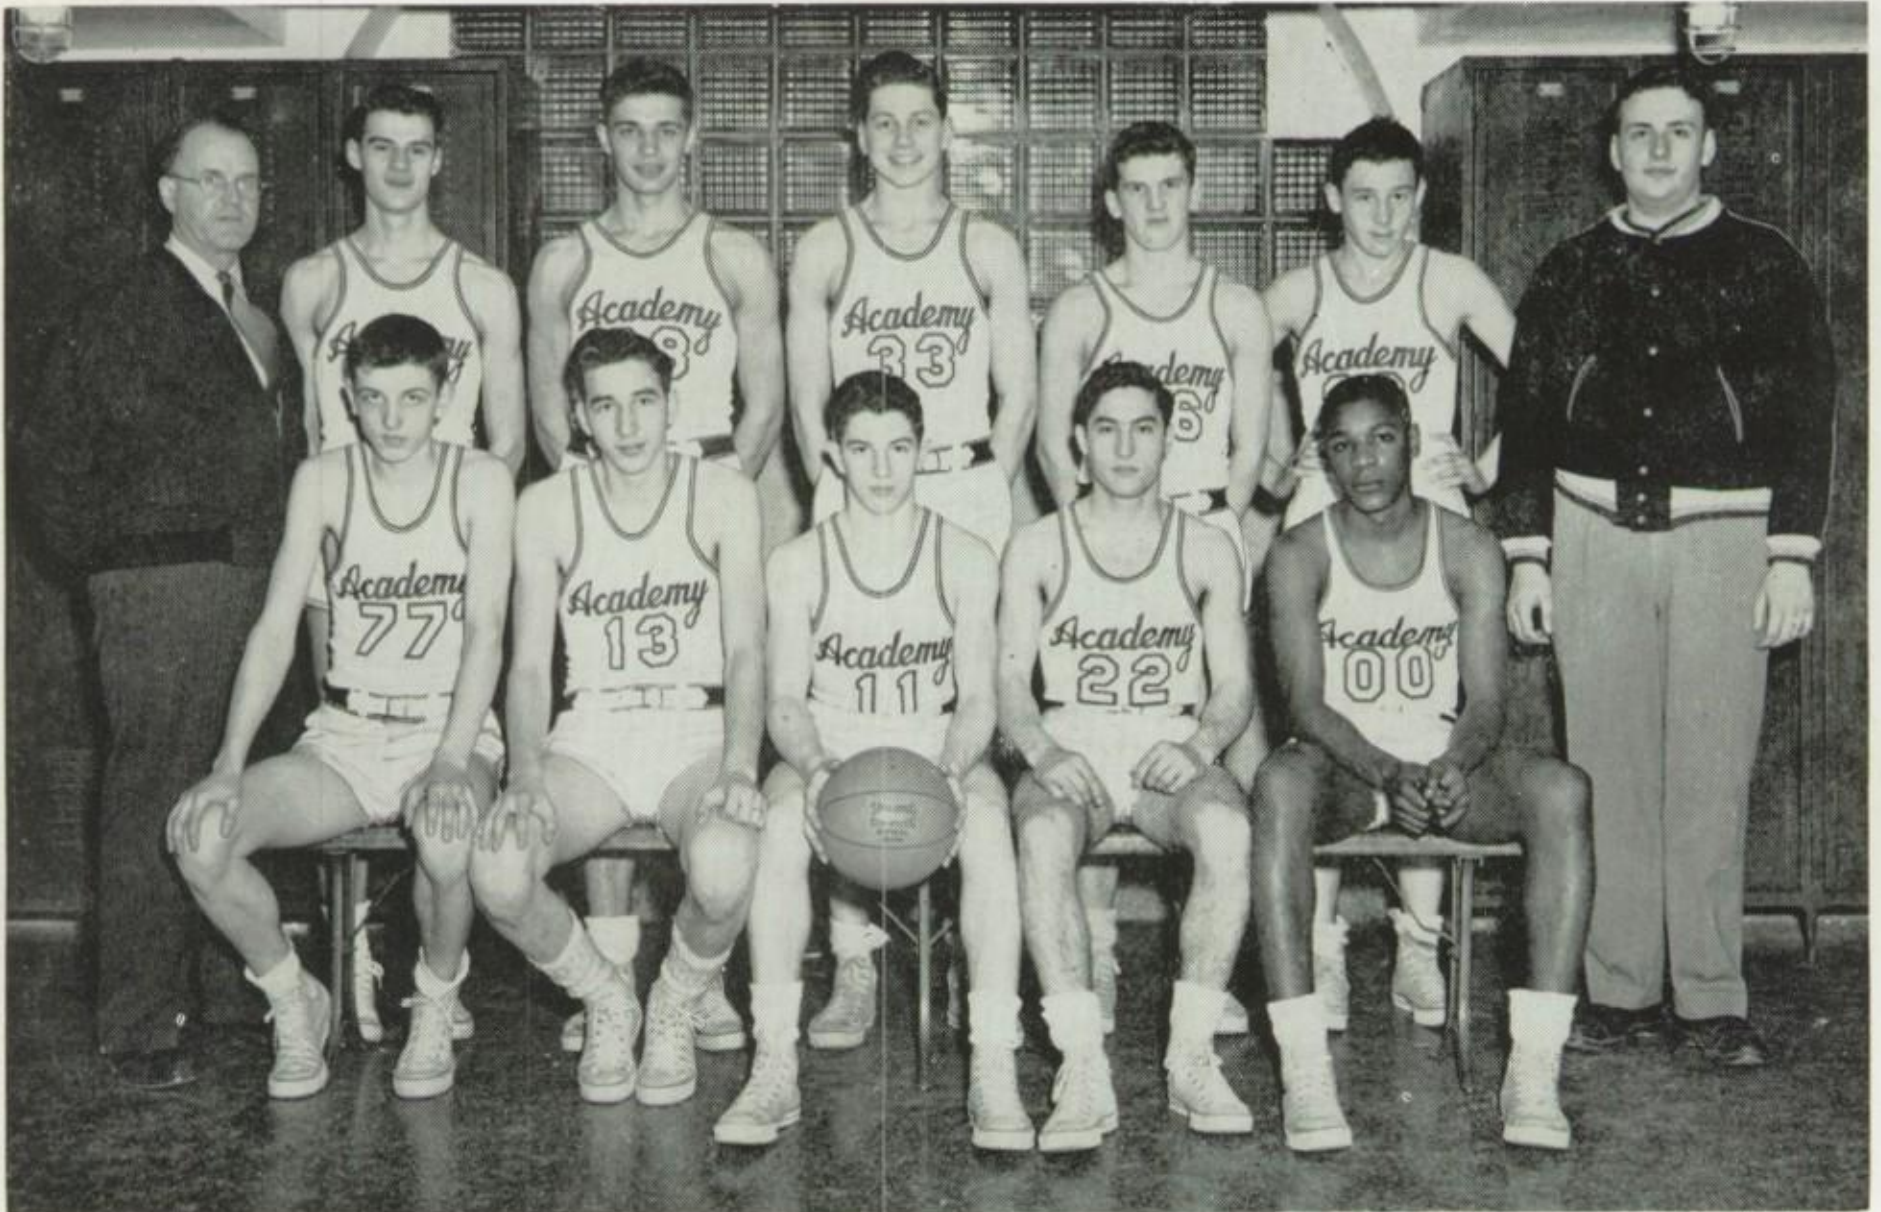

After a scoreless tie in the first game with Elmira Heights, the "Pups" went on to lose four straight. The boys played hard under the capable guidance of Coach Kenneth Fielding but lacked the speed to emerge a victorious team.

Most of the present varsity team expects to return for another season. This will leave the Jayvee team practically intact. Hence, this year's experience should prove invaluable and we should be able to look forward to a more successful season for the Jayvees next year.

The Corning Free Academy basketball team, under the coaching of Mr. Robert Duncan, did not conclude the season in a blaze of glory, with seven wins to eleven losses. However, five of these losses were in league play, leaving us last place in the league standing, when the season ended.

GET THAT BALL

Scoring sixteen points, pint-sized Captain Carmen Puccio sparked the Corning Free Academy basketball team to a 52-37 upset over Northside. However, in the second game with the Tigers, they scored their first court victory over the Academy in fourteen years by garnering a 59-52 victory on their home court. C.F.A. lagged throughout the first three quarters, but made a valiant, fruitless attempt to close the gap in the last quarter. Time ran out, though, and the Northside five succeeded in breaking our 27 game winning streak.

On December 27, the Bulldogs traveled to the Indian Village to suffer a defeat of 57-40. In a renewal of our court rivalry with the Painted Posters, we avenged our earlier battle by looping this one 47-40. The scores were close throughout the game; however, via foul shots in the last quarter, C.F.A. widened the margin to seven points.

J. V. Basketball

The J.V. squad finished the year with a better record of wins and losses than the Varsity. The Pups completed the season with twelve wins and five losses and finished first in league competition.

The most outstanding game of the season was the second game with Hornell High. The first game was taken by the Red Raiders 53-34, but when the Maple City boys came to our court, the Blue and White rookies capped that one 50-47.

The material on the J. V. squad is contributing a great deal to the optimistic outlook of future Academy teams.

Baseball

At the start of the '51 campaign Coach Ernest Craumer faced a stiff twelve game schedule. Despite this, a successful season was enjoyed with ten wins and two losses, thereby winning first place in the county championship. Also, it was the first time in Mr. Craumer's career at C.F.A. that his team took first place in the sectionals.

The team made an auspicious start in the game played in the Indian Village. The C.F.A. nine, won with little trouble trouncing the "Posters" 20-2. Hurler "Ernie" Craumer pitched a no-hit game against Canisteo, with C.F.A. netting 6 runs to Canisteo's 1.

Bath journeyed to the Crystal City to suffer a mean defeat of 3-2. This game was also a no-hitter with Fred Canfield on the mound. Next on the schedule was the initial encounter with the "Tigers" from across the river, leaving the Bulldogs a 6-0 triumph, "Ernie Craumer pitching his second no-hitter of the season.

The team met a rejuvenated Post squad, who avenged their earlier defeat by taking this one 6-5. Canisteo fell victim to another defeat by the Blue and White Stars to the tune of a 10-1 score.

Hitting their winning stride again, C.F.A. swamped Bath, 17-0. Success continued with the boys as the second game with Northside proved to be to our advantage — with a tally of 11 to the opponents' 6. All eyes were now on the county championship.

At the hands of the Hornell High the C.F.A. Nine took a close and heart-breaking defeat featuring the Red Raiders' 4-0 triumph over the home team. Yet, in the next game the confident "Hillsters" made a determined thrust defeating the Maple City boys 7-3. This victory secured the county championship for the C.F.A. boys.

They went on to the sectionals defeating East High of Rochester 3-2 in the semi-finals. Then in the game of the season the Blue and White ballplayers emerged as the "Stars of the Day" when "Ernie" Craumer hurled his third no-hitter downing Batavia 1-0 at Hornell.

The Corning Free Academy sprinters opened the 1951 season with high hopes at Painted Post on April 28. Here they scored their initial and singular victory with a total of 55 points for mater dear over Tigertown's 25 and the Indians' 17.

The next week the Blue and White tracksters again vied at Painted Post, but luck was against them this time. They were edged out of a victory over Waverly by only two points. The scores of this contest showed Waverly on top with 44, Academy 42, Elkland 9.

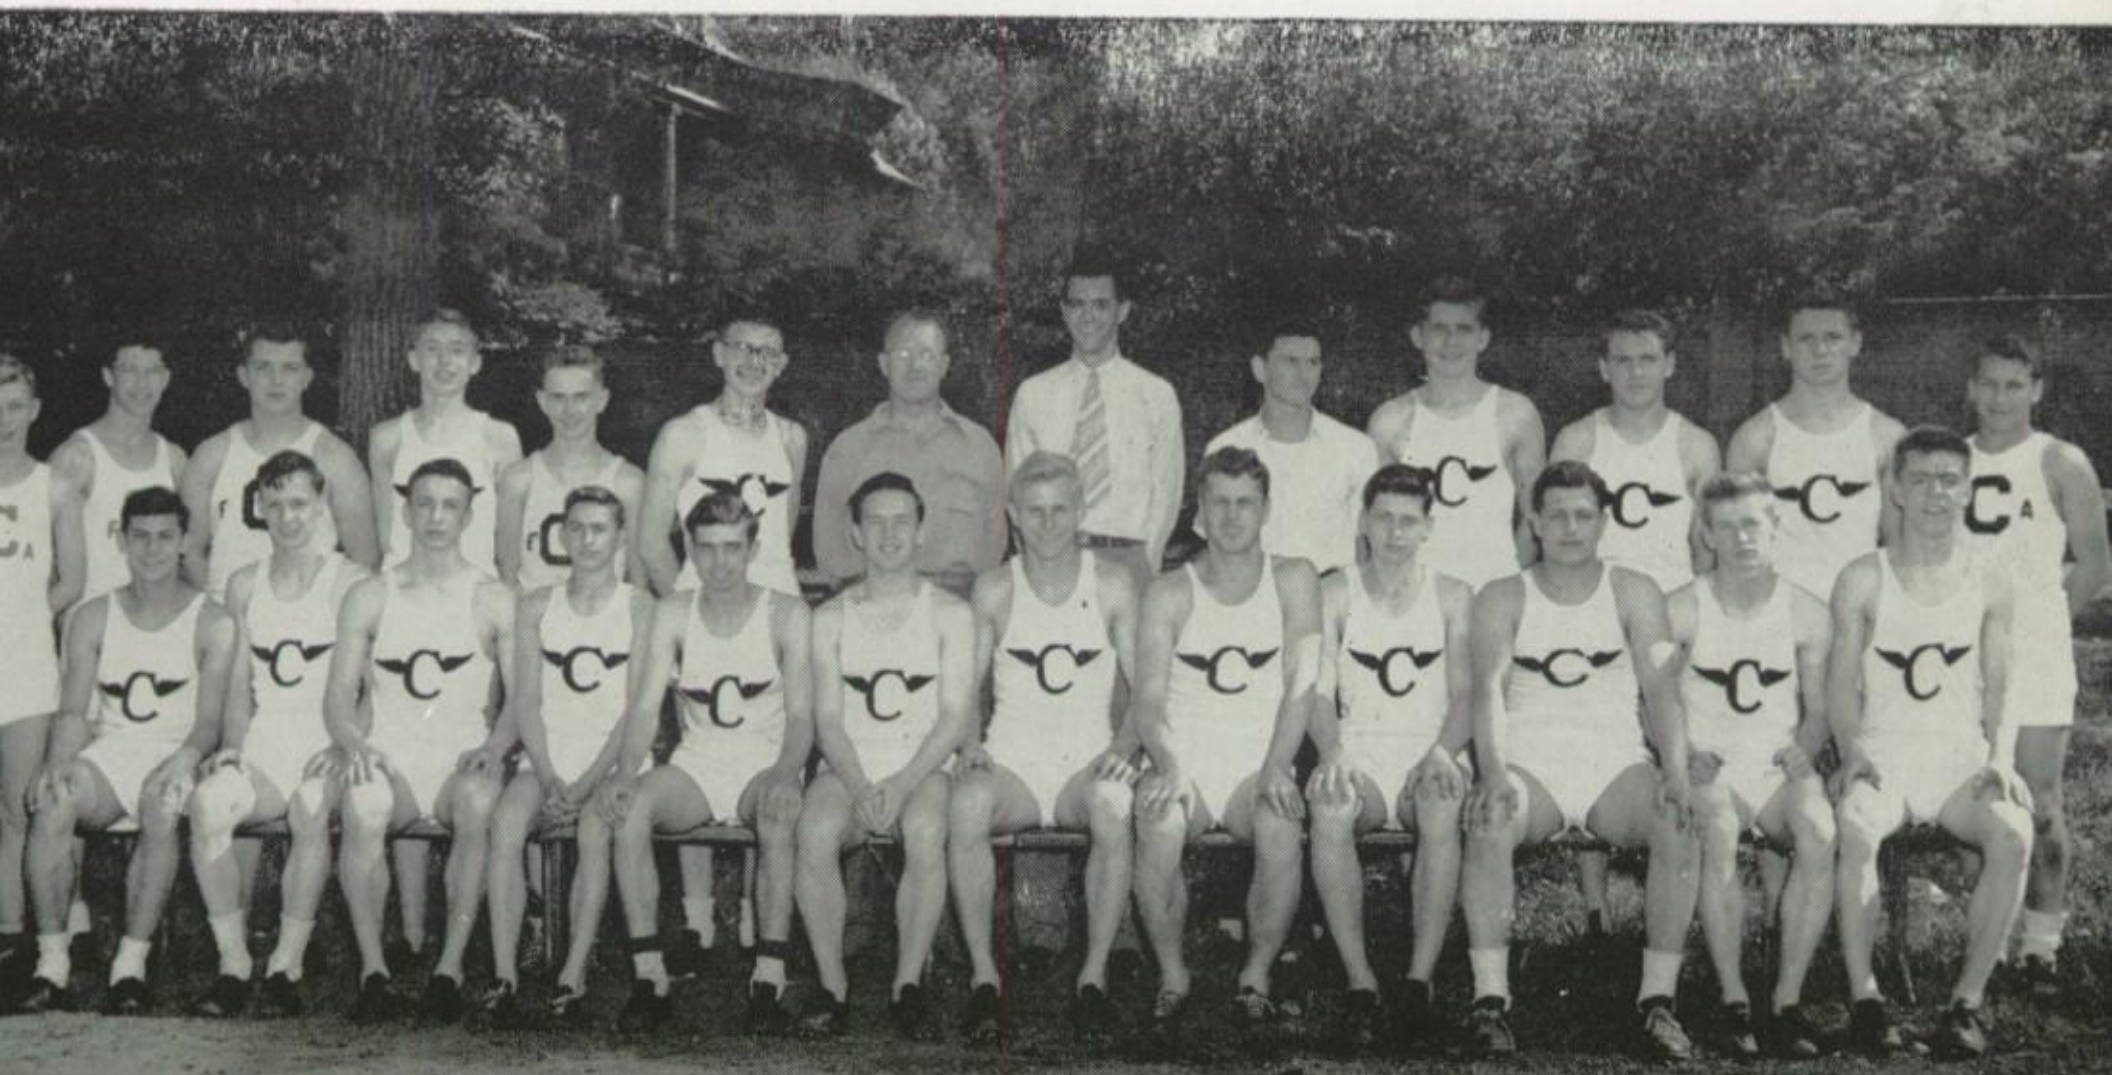

Next in line was the first dual meet of the season which took place at Elmira. Again our trackmen suffered a defeat at the hands of Elmira Southside by the slim margin of two points — the scores were $48\frac{1}{2}$ to $46\frac{1}{2}$ respectively.

On May 26th the all-important county meet was held at Bath. The final scoring found the Bulldogs in fourth place.

Under the watchful tutelage of Coaches Goliber, Duncan, and Brown, valuable lessons in sportsmanship and character building were instilled in the members of the team.

This year the Girls' "C" Club got off to an excellent start with their election of officers. Martha Jimerson was elected President with Mary Jean Tumpane, Vice-President and Anne Salo, Secretary-Treasurer. These officers planned a "Trophy Cleaning Party" with Boys Varsity

"C" Club which was held early in December. The object of the party was to polish the many trophies in the library. They were polished midst much laughter and merriment. This was climaxed by the club's forming two mixed teams and playing volleyball. Refreshments in the form of pop and cookies were served.

The goal of the Girls' Varsity "C" Club was attained when the Senior members received their sweaters. These sweaters were blue cardigans with stripes on the sleeves representing the numbers of years they had been in the organization. Every year the Junior and Senior girls sell candy during the noon hour and at the Midget League games to earn the money for their sweaters. Also, the Girls' "C" Club sponsored a well attended dance.

The brother organization of the Girls' "C" Club is the Varsity "C" Club. The purpose of this organization is to promote sportsmanship and loyalty in the Academy.

Under the leadership of Peter Yorio and Donald Purple, co-chairmen, the club carried out its aims. They were assisted by Jim Smith, Student Council Representative.

The main project of this club is the purchase of sweaters for the Senior members. To finance this, the boys sell pencils with game schedules on them and candy during the basketball games. Also, the "C" Club sponsored a dance following the C.F.A.-Northside game. This swelled the treasury considerably.

Also, drawing considerable attention, is the annual faculty basketball game. This is a contest between the winning intramural team in basketball and the male members of the faculty.

This year, under the direction of the recent addition to the coaching staff, Coach Harold Hatch, the club undertook the revision of the constitution and by-laws. Some sections of these had become obsolete and bringing them up to date has been no small piece of work.

CORNING

BEGINS ITS SECOND CENTURY

Today, Corning Glass Works stands on the threshold of its second century of service to man. Significant as its contributions have been during the last 100 years, Corning prefers to regard those achievements as but stepping stones to even greater accomplishments in the future.

Making glass better and more useful for science, industry, school and the home, is Corning's constant goal.
